

What makes us different?

Not just breaking new ground,
we're building on it

At Bank of Ireland Corporate Banking, our Construction and Development team has already financed a wide variety of projects, and are looking for further opportunities to support viable development initiatives in Ireland.

Comprising industry leading property professionals, our team has partnered with many of the prominent names in Irish property, and enjoy an unrivalled reputation for providing innovative and customised debt structures in a complex market.

If you are a developer thinking about your next project, we can help you.
