

Bank of Ireland Brexit Series - Interactive sessions with leading experts in the areas of currency management, tariffs and customs regulations

Although the UK & EU negotiating teams continue to work towards a Free Trade Deal, Irish Businesses need to be ready for all outcomes. To this end we have invited Carol Lynch, Partner at BDO's Customs & International Trade Services to present an update on the proposed tariff regime and discuss some of the practical steps businesses will have to take in order to ensure their business will run smoothly on 1st January 2021, regardless of the outcome of the negotiations.

The sessions are sector focused in order to be of most benefit to our customers. The first will focus on Agri Food & Drink and will be hosted by Roisin O'Shea, Head of Food & Drink Sector for Bank of Ireland. The second is focused on Non-Agri Food Manufacturing and will be hosted by Brian Evans, Head of Manufacturing for Bank of Ireland. The panel will also include Head of Business Banking for Dublin Central, Pierce Butler, who will discuss some of the practical ways Bank of Ireland can help businesses get ready and Lee Evans Head of FX Trading & Strategy who will address currency fluctuation management strategies.
